"OPEN TOWN" REPORTS SUBJECT OF PROBE BY HOYNE

Prosecutor Investigates Rumor That "Lid" Is Being Lifted—Grand Jury May Start Immediate Probe
—Loop Hotels Hit by Girls' Stories

A grand jury probe into reports that in certain districts of Chicago the "lid" is being kicked high in the air looks like a certain aftermath of the present primary.

Investigators from State's Attorney Hoyne's office are now looking for causes of complaints that in parts of the city keepers who are in right now are beginning to wink at the law and have a disposition to bring back the hip-boomah days.

It is known that the old so-called "vice" districts are now gayer than in several years and it is certain around the criminal courts building that it is this that Hoyne wants to find the reason for.

The investigators from Hoyne's office are paying a great deal of attention to outlying districts and to reports of the opening of many new buffet flats in the high rent districts.

Twenty-five subpoenas are expected to be issued by the grand jury today for as many downtown hotel registers as a result of an investigation made by the state's attorney's office. It is said that some of the large hotels are hit by the prosecutor's activity.

The work, which has been in charge of Asst State's Att'y Robert Hogan, was started as a result of a flood of stories told in the juvenile court by girls who claim to have been ruined in loop hotels.
